About This Game

WE ARE TERROR

The First Days

INTERACTIVE READING EXPERIENCE

A war is coming between Man and Myth. A war which will rage across the world and wreak terrible devastation. Witness how it starts!

This is a reading adventure where you make choices to help the protagonist of each chapter survive to the end, so they can live on to impact the coming war. At the same time, the wrong choices offer their own rewards as they lead you down paths that explore more of the characters and the lore. No choice leads to a plot-line that is irrelevant and inconsequential, which means that though there are wrong choices, there are no bad ones.

- Hours worth of reading.
- Experience the start of a war between Man and Myth from four different, unique points of view.
- Play with Edwards, ex-SEAL operative now working for the Secret Service, and help her survive the very first contact with vampires.
- Play with Joseph, European king of Vampires, as he strives to convince all the other races and tribes of myths to come together, and wage war on Humanity.
- Play with McKenzie, SAS officer, as he stumbles into the very first real battle with werewolves.
- Play with Santiago, Navy SEAL officer, and help him survive the very first day of the war.

- Achievements reward every story branch exploration, can you find them all?
 - You can configure your reading experience by manipulating the volume of the reading music as well as the automatic typing of the text.
 - Look for the perfect ending, avoid that final disappointing sentence: "things could have gone better".

Chapter 1

Arms of Duty

Edwards nodded at herself and then held out a hand for Phillips to see. She was at her left, on the other side of the window that they had picked as their entry point.

She signaled one.

She signaled two.

Edwards swiftly returned the hand to her MP5 and stood up with a turn. At the same time, Phillips took the butt of her FN P90 to the window, shattering the glass.

Edwards shoved her weapon through and aimed down the hall, strafing her aim to the center once Phillips did a one-eighty to cover their backs and sides.
